GREAT SHOT PUTTER INJURES HIS ARM

NEW YORK, March 3.—Martin Sheridan, the all-around champion and shot-putter, has strained a ligament in his right arm and will be out of athletics for a month or six weeks.

Some fear was expressed that the injury would keep him off the Olympic team for the games in England next summer, but he said last night that the doctors had assured him that the injury was not serious and that all his arm needed was a complete rest.

Sheridan was scheduled to compete in the New York Athletic Club games next Tuesday and in the interassociation games at Philadelphia.

Tired Women

Women's delicate nerve organism suffers much from worry, excitement, over-work. Headache, nervousness, backache, stomach trouble, and general debility are the natural result. For all such Dr. Miles' Nerve will be found to be a splendid nerve tonic. It soothes the nerves, and brings refreshing body-building sleep and rest.

"I have been extremely nervous for some years. Dr. Miles' Nerve has done more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I have used it whenever I needed it and it always quieted my nerves, and strengthened me so that I feel first rate."

MERMAIDS IN TOWER GRRB FEAST AT TURKISH BATHS, AND SAY IT'S GREAT SPORT

New York Club Women En- joy Outing in Steam Parlors.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Seventeen New York club women were guests at a Turkish bath luncheon and lecture, "How to Be Attractive Though Forty, Plus—," given by Miss N. E. Sankey-Jones, at the Prince George baths yesterday at noon.

Automobiles sent by the hostess deposited her guests at the Prince George for the party about 11 o'clock. At 11:15 a cry was heard in the hall—"A cocktail, give me a cocktail! I have been insulted—Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake has insulted me."

Miss Mattie Sheridan staggered in, pale with emotion, and when the necessary refreshment had been administered related a tale which set all the other guests aghast.

Miss Sankey-Jones made it a point that the president of every woman's club in New York whom she knew should be invited to her Turkish bath party. Miss Sheridan was requested to stop in her taxicab for Mrs. Blake.

"I sent up my name," said the recovering Miss Sheridan, "and what do you think she said? She sent down word that she did not know Miss Sheridan—that she had known a Miss Sheridan some years ago, but that she had been dropped from her calling list—ME!—and that she could not go to the party with any such person!"

Accordingly, Mrs. Blake did not appear at the party. But all the other invited guests did.

Were Draped in Sheets.

First, all the ladies dived into separate little cubby-holes, and after many exclamations waded back and forth over the tops of the partitions, reappeared, minus—lots of things, and clad in sheets, which draped them in classic severity, from top to toe.

The first part of the entertainment provided was the "Swedish movement" avoirdupois cure. Elaborate machinery, whose effect was of trotting and galloping horses, whirling bicycles or rolling ships at sea, was turned upon the unprotected figures of the guests. One machine reproduced the dizzy, twist effect one gets from riding a camel. An elaborate speaking machine made the hit "that mother used to make" and one champion flesh reducer induced the unsuspecting club matrons to lie full length on a sofa, face down. The sofa then moved back and forth over little rollers which came up and performed a sort of mechanical massage.

After that the deluge! Hot room, steam room, cold room, and plunge, swim, and alcohol rub, and the guests were more than ready for lunch.

The tables in the palm room were decorated with Japanese vases and cherry blossoms and the guests were seated in charming Japanese kimono. The luncheon was served by geisha girls in Japanese costume. Those who sat down were Mme. von Klenner, president of the Women's Press Club; Baroness von Rayer, president of the California Club; Mrs. Arthur Alfred Brink, president of the Gotham Club; Mrs. Josephine Clarke, president of the West Orange Shakespeare Club; Mme. Marie Cross Newhouse, vice president of the Minerva Club; Mrs. Elizabeth Stein Club; Miss Mattie Sheridan, president of the Hungry Club; Mrs. Eliza Archard Corner, of the Sorosis Club; Mrs. Mary Gibbs Spooner, Miss E. Frye Barker, Mrs. Herbert Dickson, Mrs. Campbell-Wolfe, Mrs. Sarah

Displays Muscular Power.

Miss Sankey-Jones herself displayed her "muscular" development, and the guests were awed. The finely developed muscles were shown in the majority of her form caused the majority of the women to announce that hereafter the Turkish bath and open window exercise were to be prominent parts of their daily routine. An evidence of her remarkable strength, Miss Dr. Sankey-Jones picked up one of the guests, weighed her, and carried her over the room several times with one arm.

Mrs. Herbert Dickson became so enthusiastic that she proposed the starting of a Turkish bath club. The idea was responded to with enthusiasm.

"Why," remarked Mrs. Dickson, "I believe this will meet with great approval. Before long we would have a membership sufficient to warrant the building of a clubhouse with special bath facilities, a gymnasium and other attractive features."

It was decided to make the Turkish bath parties a thing permanent for a while, at least. It is the plan to have these parties every Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Dr. Sankey-Jones further surprised her guests by the introduction of a Japanese kimono costume, which she served a delightful luncheon at little tables. All voted it "just too jolly for anything" to sit and lounge about at luncheon in soft garments and with hair streaming about their shoulders.

After the lecture the guests retired to the dressing room and to sleep. The event was voted the greatest success, and is likely to become a fad.

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 3.—Manager R. M. Murphy, of the Washington and Jefferson football team, tonight announced his tentative list of twelve games comprising the schedule for next season.

Women Lay Bathers.

Then came the ju ju lecture, with illustrations, given by Miss Sankey-Jones, in a sheet-and-puffs. "Be Attractive at Forty, Plus—?" was her subject.

"American women are lazy," she said; "lazy about eating, and particularly lazy about bathing. Not that they don't bathe enough. They do, in a lazy way. But to bathe really should be a function, as it was to the Romans. Gymnastic exercises, rubbings, and particularly ju ju should be a part of the bath of the modern woman. It would have the desirable effect of keeping women from indulging in personalities, and that would prevent wrinkles. If women talked more about things and less about people, it would have the greatest effect in making their faces more beautiful and their bodies more healthy and less personable."

"Now," said the hostess, "I have found the Turkish bath an excellent thing in preserving youth and figure. I don't want to appear as criticizing, but, really and truly, do not think the ordinary busy American woman looks to her physical well-being as she should. Plenty of baths and plenty of exercise should be hers."

"One must go about this systematically. Never vary. Make up your mind to be regular. Go to bed at your certain hour and arise at a scheduled time. Take my cold tub every morning on arising, and as regular as clockwork. I do my exercising before two open windows, summer or winter."
